

Adult Education Courses at Lake Forest College

WRITING BY THE LAKE

CREATIVE WRITING SEMINAR

Mondays, 9-11 a.m., Oct. 24, Nov. 7, 14, 21

JOSHUA COREY

Poet and Novelist

Professor of English and Creative Writing
Lake Forest College

Experienced and aspiring writers alike can get to the next level with this creative writing seminar taught by award-winning poet and novelist Joshua Corey. Students will meet for four two-hour class sessions in the comfortable setting of Glen Rowan House on the Lake Forest College campus and each will receive an end-of-term writing project evaluation, as well as an individual "Next Steps" conference with Professor Corey.

Joshua Corey is a poet, critic, translator, and novelist whose most recent publications include How Long Is Now (Spuyten Duyvil, 2022), a novel; Hannah and the Master (MadHat Press, 2021), a work of speculative poetry; The Transcendental Circuit: Other Worlds of Poetry (MadHat Press, 2018), a collection of critical essays; and, with Jean-Luc Garneau, Partisan of Things (Kenning Editions, 2016), a new translation of French poet Francis Ponge's work. He is Professor of English and Creative Writing at Lake Forest College and lives in Evanston with his wife and teenage daughter.

Learn more at joshua-corey.com.

CREATIVE WRITING SEMINAR

Mondays, 9-11 a.m. Oct. 24 and Nov. 7, 14, 21

(No class Oct 31)

TUITION: $325

To register online, go to www.lakeforest.edu/WBL

For more information, please contact Carol Gayle, gayle@lakeforest.edu

LAKE FOREST
COLLEGE